“ The first practice session was tricky, I struggled a little bit, but the second practice was good: everything worked and the car was handling pretty well. Here in Singapore, if you get the car right, it's a lot easier to go faster. Today we had quite a good feeling, but for sure there is still something to improve. It's hard to say if we can be strong, it's only Friday, but the feeling was positive. So far so good, but tomorrow is another day, we'll see where everybody is and then we'll go from there. We'll give our best and hopefully we have the speed to challenge our rivals.

Overall we had two decent sessions. In the second one I was not entirely happy, I was struggling a little bit with the car balance, and therefore not really finding the rhythm but in general it has been a good day. It is very difficult to pass here, obviously we'll try to trim everything towards qualifying. Now we have a lot of stuff to look into, before tomorrow comes: there will be another session and the opportunity to do a few more laps. If we get everything right we have a good chance tomorrow to position the car well.
