My Dear Friends,

First of all, I'd like to congratulate Lewis on winning a championship he really deserved, for being able to take his car to the limit. Even if, of course, I would have hoped for more stubborn resistance from Nico...

This was, by all means, an unpredictable race weekend. FP1 was run in difficult conditions, FP2 was cancelled altogether, FP3 could hardly be disputed, and Qualifying was delayed until Sunday morning. Then it didn't go beyond Q2, and then again, the race was interspersed with Safety Car periods.

It was the SCs which destroyed our most glorious dreams, as our strategy was planned for going the whole distance after fitting the harder tires. Still, we must be proud of what we did, and of Seb's and Kimi's recovery. Of the latter, I'd like to praise the grit for not giving up until it was impossible to continue. Of the former, I can't help but celebrate the driving skills, especially in such difficult conditions. That was another podium to rejoice in, despite our grid position made it hard to believe before the start.

Even in Texas, and braving the weather, you have been the real heroes on the grandstands of this beautiful circuit. Here, too, you showed your passion, which motivates us even more and makes us even proud of you and of this world unique brand.

Ciao Jules, forza Ferrari!
